

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

My sincere gratitude goes to four supporting groups of people to make this happen:

Instructors—My deepest thanks to my advisor, Dr. Claire Hsun-huei Chang, for her inspiring guidance which keeps me all the way excited about my research. The committee members, Dr. I-li Yang and Dr. Posen Liao, for their precious and detailed suggestions during my oral defense. Dr. Chin-chi Chao, special thanks for her enlightening introduction to qualitative research methodology.

ETMA classmates—Anna, Sue, Patient, Josephine, and Wendy, you know how I've enjoyed your company during our time in ETMA these years. Thank you for being around in every gathering.

My colleagues—Jenny, Emma, and Melody, thank you for being so frank and sharing your stories in our study group meetings.

And of course, my family—Philip, thank you for helping your wife be a better student by listening to her all the time. Without your attention, she couldn't have known what she has been all busy about. Matty, thank you for making this process so much more meaningful than expected. Mom is very excited about finishing this academic work, but even more proud of myself since I had you.
