

Acknowledgements

I could not have finished this thesis without the following people:

My advisor, Dr. Ming-chung Yu, who guided me with his insightful remarks and accompanied me with patience when I was stuck.

The committee members, Dr. Chi-yee Lin and Dr. Chin-ching Peng, who made profound comments and suggestions.

Miss Shu-jing Lai, who generously gave me a hard copy of her thesis and patiently answered my immature questions.

Miss Chiung-chih Tang, who kind-heartedly introduced to me several teachers teaching in Taipei city to distribute questionnaires for me.

Miss Shu-jing Lai, Ting Su, Ching-chien Tsai, Chih-yin Liao, and Mr. Wen-jen Tsou, who helped me with the pilot study.

Miss Hsiao-chun Ning, Yu-hsuan Chao, Kuo-ying Ma, Chih-yun Lin, Shu-chen Liu, Li-chin Liu, Ting Su, Jui-ling Li, Hsiu-hua Ku, Chih-yin Liao, Jen-hui Wang, Kai-li Chang, Yu-mei Ma, Chen-Wan Yang and Mr. Chih-yi Chen, who distributed and gathered questionnaires for me.

The six interviewees, who kindly agreed to be interviewed.

My colleagues in the Affiliated Senior Industrial Vocational High School of National Changhua University of Education, who supported my studies with sincerity and sat in for me during three consecutive summer vacations.

My cousin, Hsing-nuan Liu, who gathered some invaluable references for me.

My parents, Mr. Kung-tung Wu and Ms. Po-ling Liu, and my sisters, Tsai-ching Wu and Chieh-hsin Wu, who accompanied me and encouraged me to hang on when I felt like giving up.

And last but not least, my husband, Chih-cheng Lin, who offered me precious advice on how to organize my files and resources more neatly, and most importantly, was there for me all the time.