

Acknowledgements

I would like to thank Dr. Paul C. B. Liu, Director of Graduate Institute of Intellectual Property for his encouragement, guidance and support. Thank you, Prof. Y.P. Jou for inspiring me and for your insightful contributions and interest that have helped shape the form of this research in invaluable ways. I also want to express my appreciation to Dr. Jyh-Shen Chiou, who widened my horizon by encouraging me to look at marketing for ideas and possibilities.

Thanks to all the friends and classmates, especially Harvey & Angela, Yung-Hsu & Simon, Y.T., Eric, P.L., C.F., Amanda, Alice, Takuya, who have lent an ear or provided compelling suggestions. In particular, I would like to extend my wholehearted appreciation to S.B. for giving me tremendous encouragement and inspiration during the critical stage of this research. Without all of these marvelous people, this research just could not have been actualized, and I am so thankful to them all.

Most of all, I thank my beloved parents and family for all the encouragement and love given throughout my master studies. Without their infinite patience and support, this work would never have become possible.

And finally, this research is just one small outward manifestation of all the richness of intellect, industry, and life that we have shared over these last few years. Hopefully, let it be a beginning of greater things to come.
